

YOU'RE INVITED TO THE KICKOFF EVENT FOR

THE METROPOLITAN POLICY CENTER

AT THE SCHOOL OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Please join us as we officially kickoff American University's Metropolitan Policy Center (MPC). Come hear MPC's advisory board members, Margery Turner of the Urban Institute and Blair Ruble of the Woodrow Wilson Center, speak on important 21st century urban challenges and opportunities.

Wednesday, November 19
American University
4400 Massachusetts Ave, NW

4:30pm - 6:30pm
Mary Graydon Center, Room 200

Wine reception to follow the discussion.

RSVP by November 17
to TL8601A@student.american.edu

ABOUT THE CENTER

The Metropolitan Policy Center (MPC) was created in the Fall of 2014 within the School of Public Affairs at American University. MPC serves as the metropolitan and urban research hub on AU's campus. MPC's mission is to create knowledge and propose solutions to our 21st century metropolitan and urban challenges. The insights gained through the Center are disseminated to policy makers, think tanks, foundations, nonprofits, community groups and academic and mainstream media outlets.

SCHOOL of PUBLIC AFFAIRS
AMERICAN UNIVERSITY • WASHINGTON, DC

Visit The Metropolitan Policy Center Online
american.edu/spa/metro-policy