Comments about Individual Days/Sessions - From the Day One & Day Two evaluation forms.

Building a Culture of Health through an Equity Lens Dr. Mindy Fullilove & RWJF's Nicole Bronson	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Mindy is an amazing thinker and counter-intuitive presenter. I loved it. • A little difficult to hear. Concepts of elements were interesting. The legacy of implementing some of the work was great. • So good that she had all the time. • Great session. Please make slides available. • This session was captivating, and I am still processing it. I loved it. Definitely inviting Dr. Fullilove to speak at one of my programs. This session was great! • Interesting perspective about holistic approaches. • I love Mindy Fullilove's session. It was great! Everything that came out of her session was very profound. • The equity talk and presentations were great!

Philadelphia: PACDC conference keynote, June 2017

Hey Dr. Fullilove,

Hope you and your family are well. People are still raving about your presentation at our conference last year and we cannot thank you enough for your generosity of spirit and insight in helping to make it a success. I am writing to ask you if you would consider penning an article for our 2019 edition of PACDC Magazine which will focus on health and community development. Given your own work in this area we would be so honored to be able to have you featured in the publication. We are still very much in the early stages of planning the document which will be released at our April 2019 awards and gala program so we are flexible about specific topic and length. A working deadline for copy would be end of January 2019. We would welcome a chance to talk with you more about this if participating in the 2019 edition was something you were interested and available to do.

We have just released the 2018 edition of PACDC Magazine entitled Art, Equity + Place, a link to which is below and I know you have seen our previous publications that give you a sense of what we typically produce. Thank you for considering this request and for the great work you are undertaking to help the field.

Best,
Pam

What We've Learned

- Gentrification is everywhere (a national and international phenomenon)
- The social determinants of health are difficult to address
- Organizing is one of the keys to tackling health-related conditions
- We learn from being around people with different perspectives
